

MEGALYNARION OF THE LEAVETAKING OF THE FEAST OF THE HOLY CROSS

Ο ΔΙΑ ΒΡΩΣΕΩΣ ΤΟΥ ΞΥΛΟΥ

September 21

Ἦχος πλ. δ'

Melody adapted by S. Takis

Moderato

Ο δι-ά βρώ-σε-ως τού ξύ-λου, τώ γέ-νει προ-σγε-
 O dhi-a vro-se-os tou xy-lou, to ghe-ni pro-sghe-

- νό-με-νος θά-να-τος, δι-ά Σταυ-ρού κα-τήρ-γη-ται
 - no-me-nos tha-na-tos, dhi-a Stav-rou ka-tir-ghi-te σή-με-ρον, τής γάρ Προ-μή-το-ρος η παγ-γε-νής καsi-me-ron, tis ghar Pro-mi-to-ros i pan-ge-nis ka-

- τά-ρα δι-α-λέ-λυ-ται, τώ βλα-στό τής α-γνής Θε-ο-
 - ta-ra dhi-a-le-li-te, to vla-sto tis a-ghnis The-o-

- μή-το-ρος, ἦν πά-σαι αι Δυ-νά-μεις, τών ου-ρα-
 - mi-to-ros, in pa-se e Dy-na-mis, ton ou-ra-

- νών με-γα-λυ-νου-σι.
 - non me-gha-li-nou-si.

MEGALYNARION OF THE LEAVETAKING OF THE FEAST OF THE HOLY CROSS TODAY THE DEATH, WHICH FELL ON MANKIND

September 21

Plagal Fourth Tone

N. Takis

Moderato

To - day the death, which fell on man - kind, by eat - ing from the tree in the gar - den, has been a -
- bol - shed now through the Ho - ly Cross. Be - cause the curse of Eve, the first moth - er, and all gen - er - a - tions hence is un - done by the sprout of the Moth - er of God, whom all of the pow - ers of the heav - ens praise and mag - ni - fy.