

MEGALYNARION OF THE LEAVETAKING OF THE FEAST OF THE HOLY CROSS

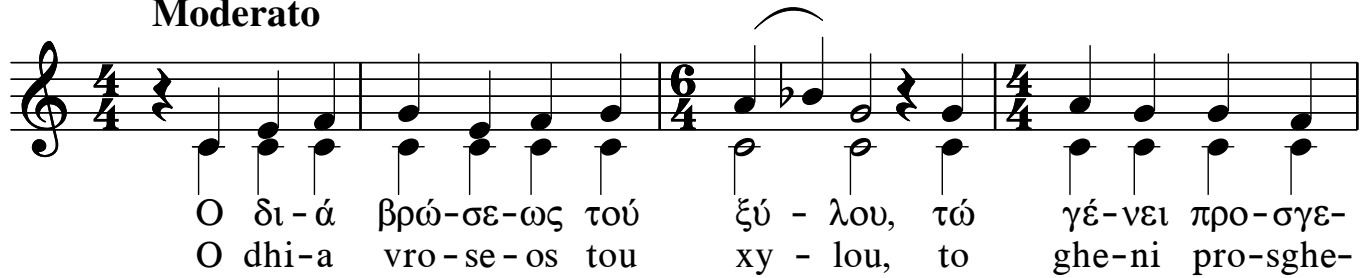

Ο ΔΙΑ ΒΡΩΣΕΩΣ ΤΟΥ ΞΥΛΟΥ

September 21

Ἦχος πλ. δ'

Melody adapted by S. Takis

Moderato

Ο δι-ά βρώ-σε-ως τού ξύ - λου, τώ γέ-νει προ-σγε-
O dhi-a vro-se-os tou xy - lou, to ghe-ni pro-sghe-

- νό - με - νος θά - να - τος, δι - ά Σταυ - ρού κα - τήρ - γη - ται
- no - me - nos tha - na - tos, dhi - a Stav - rou ka - tir - ghi - te σή - με - ρον, τής γάρ Προ - μή - το - ρος η παγ - γε - νής κα - si - me - ron, tis ghar Pro - mi - to - ros i pan - ge - nis ka -

- τά - ρα δι - α - λέ - λυ - ται, τώ βλα - στώ τής α - γνής Θε - ο -
- ta - ra dhi - a - le - li - te, to vla - sto tis a - ghnis The - o -

- μή - το - ρος, ήν πά - σαι αι Δυ - νά - μεις, τών ου - ρα -
- mi - to - ros, in pa - se e Dy - na - mis, ton ou - ra -

- νών με - γα - λυ - νου - σι.
- non me - gha - li - nou - si.

MEGALYNARION OF THE LEAVETAKING OF THE FEAST OF THE HOLY CROSS TODAY THE DEATH, WHICH FELL ON MANKIND

September 21

Plagal Fourth Tone

N. Takis

Moderato

To - day the death, which fell on man - kind, by eat - ing from the tree in the gar - den, has been a -
- bol - shed now through the Ho - ly Cross. Be - cause the curse of Eve, the first moth - er, and all gen - er - a - tions hence is un - done by the sprout of the Moth - er of God, whom all of the pow - ers of the heav - ens praise and mag - ni - fy.